

ONE BOOK ONE UCFV

A book club to bring together UCFV and the communities that support UCFV

You are invited to join us for a thought provoking summer journey from June to September as our new Book Club reads Shauna Singh Baldwin's evocative book, What the Body Remembers. Then, in late August and early September you will be invited to engage in two discussions sessions about the book, prior to Shauna Singh Baldwin's visit to UCFV at the end of September. The dates of these free discussion events will be announced soon. Book lovers from the campuses and importantly, the wider community, are all welcome.

The book will be available at the Abbotsford UCFV Campus Bookstore, Phone: 604.854.4535.

Roop is a sixteen-year-old village girl in the Punjab in 1937, whose family is respectable but poor. Innocent and lovely, she is elated when she learns she is to become the second wife of a wealthy Sikh landowner whose first wife, Satya, has failed to bear him any children. Roop trusts that Satya will treat her as a sister, but their relationship becomes far more ominous and complicated than expected.

Shauna Singh Baldwin, the author of What the Body Remembers (1999), was born in Montreal, grew up in India and now lives in Milwaukee.

A project of the UCFV Writer-in-Residence, Kuldip Gill.
