

NEW LEADERSHIP NOW!

BROTHERS AND SISTERS:

It is becoming obvious to more and more members of our Local Union that we are not and have not been receiving adequate leadership from our present Local Officers. The I.W.A., once a leader amongst British Columbia Trade Unions in wages and working conditions, has in the past few years allowed poor settlements to leave us far behind. We need a leadership that understands the real problems of the members. Leaders who will ensure proper communication to the member on the job, and keep him informed at all times.

To meet the growing strength of already huge companies the I.W.A. needs leaders who recognize the growing problems of automation and unemployment and are willing to initiate an immediate program to protect our members.

We pledge ourselves to fight harder to improve the wages and working conditions of our membership and to ensure that the rank and file members receive the service from their elected representatives that they are entitled to.
